"Following the Second Reading of the Renters' Reform Bill in Parliament, Coventry City Council:
 - Welcomes the progress of the Bill and in particular its abolition of Section 21 "no-fault" evictions
 - Notes the Local Government Association's cross-party analysis that local authorities may require additional funding in this month's Budget in order to fully enforce the Bill's provisions
 - Hopes that further legislation may give local authorities greater freedom over housing policy and homelessness, as providing temporary accommodation to families now costs Coventry City Council more than £13 million per year."
