

Coventry Domestic Violence and Abuse Strategy 2017-2018

Executive summary

Domestic abuse has been identified as a priority for Coventry, and is a key issue for Public Health, West Midlands Police, Community Safety and Safeguarding. Data from 2015/2016 showed a significantly higher rate of domestic abuse in Coventry compared with the rest of England, although similar to the West Midlands region. The annual cost of domestic abuse in Coventry is thought to be £34.8 million; human and emotional costs are estimated at an additional £60 million.

The Coventry Domestic Abuse Strategy 2018-2021 addresses domestic abuse, including honour-based violence and forced marriage, and highlights a number of groups that can increase a person's risk, its effects, and/or create barriers to accessing help and support. The following groups are identified as falling within these categories:

- Children
- Older people
- Adults with care and support needs, including disabled people
- Men
- Lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender
- Black, Asian, minority ethnic and refugees
- People with mental illness and/or substance misuse problems

The priorities of the strategy have been informed by engagement with a wide range of stakeholders including service users, young people, adults with care and support needs, domestic abuse service providers, other voluntary and community sector providers, West Midlands Police, community safety, health and social care, Coventry and Rugby Clinical Commissioning Group and education. They are based on the four Ps of the government's Contest counter terrorism strategy, the framework of which supports a systematic approach to tackling issues requiring a multi-agency approach such as domestic abuse. The four Ps are Prepare, Prevent, Protect and Pursue:

Prepare

The development of a strong governance and service commissioning structure to provide high quality, equitable services that are shaped around the needs of victims and ensure that their voices are heard and responded to.

Prevent

A long term approach to improve awareness, understanding and early identification of abuse at all levels of society. Victims will be empowered to report and staff will be given the skills and confidence to support them. Interventions tailored to victims at all levels of risk with a range of needs will help to break the intergenerational cycle of abuse and minimise repeat victimisation.

Protect

There will be effective information sharing and referral pathways between key agencies, breaking down organisational and cultural barriers to ensure victims of abuse are identified and protected. The safety of victims, and that of their children (where relevant), will be paramount. Victims will be supported to access safe and appropriate accommodation; and safeguarding procedures will be robustly implemented to ensure that children and vulnerable adults are protected, and that the voice of the child is always heard.

Pursue

An approach centred on achieving justice and positive outcomes for victims, including reductions in offending. There will be better understanding of perpetrator risk to support the use of court and out of court disposals so that they are held accountable for their actions and appropriately supported to understand and change their offending behaviour.

The Coventry Domestic Abuse Strategy 2018-2021 will be supported by an action plan, implemented and monitored by a multiagency group to ensure that our vision of protecting and empowering victims, and reducing incidents of domestic abuse is achieved.

Foreword

Domestic abuse happens every day, it not only affects the victim, but also the wider family and community; however, it still remains very much, a “hidden crime.” We know that there can be stigma attached to reporting and that certain groups of people within our community face additional barriers to accessing services which could help and support them. In Coventry we spend approximately £34.8 million per year across the city on services that support victims as well as dealing with those who inflict the abuse.

Coventry’s vision is to reduce the harm caused by domestic abuse. We want to help and support victims but we also want to change the behaviour of those who inflict the abuse, to break the cycle and reduce the likelihood of further incidents, either within an existing relationship or with a new partner. We are not just talking about violence, abuse can take many forms and there has been a lot of background research looking at the national, regional and local data, consultation with affected groups and service providers which has driven the thinking behind the formation of the strategic priorities.

No one agency, working in isolation, can address this issue and we believe that by working together across the broad spectrum of public and third sector services we can achieve a more joined up approach and ultimately better outcomes for those who need help.

Definition of domestic abuse

Domestic abuse is a manifestation of one person (or persons) exerting power and control over another¹ that can affect people of any age, gender, sexual orientation and ethnicity. Domestic abuse is most commonly thought of as occurring between intimate adult partners, however it can feature in relationships between people as young as 13 or over 60; be perpetrated by children against their parents; and involve the wider family². While the majority of victims are young women, the estimated number of male victims has increased since 2015³; and men are less likely than women to report it⁴.

Domestic abuse can encompass, but is not limited to⁵:

- psychological
- physical
- sexual
- financial
- emotional

This strategy uses the term domestic abuse rather than domestic violence or domestic violence and abuse to emphasise that this behaviour is not limited to physical violence.

Coercive or controlling behaviour

In 2015 parliament introduced an offence of coercive or controlling behaviour. Examples of such behaviour may include isolating someone from their relatives and friends, repeatedly putting them down or taking control of their daily life (e.g. what they can wear and who they are allowed to see)⁵. It does not have to have a physical element.

It can be perpetrated by anyone aged 10 or over, unless the victim is a child aged under 16 and the perpetrator is 16 or over. It may be poorly understood by authorities and not be recognised by the victim⁶.

Forced marriage and honour-based violence

Domestic abuse encompasses honour-based violence and forced marriage. Forced marriage is “a marriage conducted without the consent of one or both parties and where duress is a factor”; and honour-based violence is “a crime or incident which has or may have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or community”⁷.

Scope

In developing this strategy Coventry has taken a non-gender biased approach to ensure that it is inclusive to men and women. This does not mean that we do not recognise the gender inequality embedded in society that leads to women comprising the majority of victims. However the needs of men and women differ as both victims and perpetrators of domestic abuse, and we believe that this approach will enable us to address these differences.

This strategy will focus on domestic abuse, including honour-based violence and forced marriage. Although the overlap with other so-called ‘hidden crimes’ such as child sexual exploitation and modern slavery is recognised, these are being addressed separately in Coventry and do not form part of this strategy.

⁷ The Crown Prosecution Service. Honour based violence and forced marriage (2017) <https://www.cps.gov.uk/legal-guidance/honour-based-violence-and-forced-marriage>

Sexual violence is recognised as an important component of domestic abuse. Coventry City Council has commissioned a sexual violence prevention programme for children and young people, and an intimate partner dating violence prevention programme for young people to address the issue of sexual violence; therefore it will not be discussed separately in this strategy.

Strategic and political context

National

A number of national sources have been drawn upon to inform this strategy.

The Government's Violence against Women and Girls Strategy (VAWG) 2016-2020 has committed to achieving ongoing reductions in the prevalence of domestic abuse by breaking the intergenerational cycle of abuse; giving greater attention to the risk of becoming a perpetrator; challenging attitudes and beliefs about abuse; and improving awareness among children and young people about healthy relationships⁸. Relationship education is to be made compulsory in primary schools, and sex and relationship education will be compulsory in secondary schools⁹.

The National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) has developed guidance on multi-agency working to highlight the need for co-ordinated partnership working at operational and strategic levels, along with training and organisational support¹⁰.

The strategy is also informed by the second joint targeted area inspection programme, "The multi-agency response to children living with domestic abuse", which recognises the long-term harmful consequences on children and young people who are victims or witnesses of domestic abuse¹¹.

Local and regional

This strategy does not sit in isolation. There are a number of local and regional strategies and guidance that have informed the strategy and will impact on how we work with our partners to deliver its priorities.

Coventry's Parenting Strategy 2018-2023 recognises the 'toxic trio' of domestic violence, mental illness and substance misuse as significant issues for some parents in Coventry, which impact on their children.

Coventry's Drug and Alcohol Strategy 2017-2020 will tackle substance misuse in the city, supporting this strategy's vision to reduce and prevent domestic abuse¹².

Work is taking place locally to develop links between the Domestic Abuse Strategy and the subsequent housing and homelessness strategy, acknowledging that domestic abuse is a significant cause of homelessness.

Coventry's Health and Wellbeing Strategy has a focus on reducing violence, sexual abuse and the risk of individuals developing multiple complex needs¹³; and the Joint Strategic Needs Assessment highlights the issue of domestic abuse in Coventry¹⁴.

The West Midlands Domestic and Abuse Violence Standards provide a framework for statutory and specialist domestic abuse services to improve and commission services, and develop professional practice¹⁵.

Regionally, West Midlands Police and the Police and Crime Commissioner have made the identification and prevention of domestic abuse a strategic priority.

Domestic abuse is known to be under-reported therefore the following figures represent only part of the picture.

Prevalence of domestic abuse

According to the Crime Survey for England and Wales (year ending March 2017) an estimated 1.9 million adults aged 16-59 years had experienced domestic abuse (defined as non-sexual partner abuse, non-sexual family abuse, sexual assault or stalking) in the previous year (1.2 million women and 713,000 men)³.

For both men and women, the most common type of domestic abuse was partner abuse, specifically non-physical abuse, threats, force, sexual assault or stalking³.

The 16-19 year age group made up the highest proportion of victims of domestic abuse for men and women (combined data from 2014 to 2017)³.

Domestic abuse-related crime

Police in England and Wales recorded 1.1 million domestic abuse-related incidents and crimes in the year ending March 2017. 43% were recorded as domestic abuse-related crimes, 57% remained as incidents. Domestic abuse-related crimes recorded by the police accounted for 32% of violent crimes³.

There were 46 arrests for every 100 domestic abuse-related crimes recorded by 39 police forces in the year ending June 2017. A decision to charge was made for 72% of domestic abuse-related cases referred to the Crown Prosecution Service by the police; and of those that proceeded to court, 76% resulted in convictions.

Domestic homicides

Between April 2013 and March 2016 454 domestic homicides were recorded by the police in England and Wales; 70% of the victims were female³. More than three-quarters of female victims were killed by a male partner or ex-partner. Of the male victims, two-thirds were killed by another male.

Coercive and controlling behaviour

4246 offences of coercive control were recorded in the year ending March 2017 across the 38 police forces for which these data were available³.

Repeat victimisation

Repeat victimisation in domestic violence is poorly captured in the Crime Survey for England and Wales as many people either do not respond to the question or reply that they do not know. Data from the year ending 2015 survey show that 15% of people experienced two episodes of victimisation and 16% experienced at least three episodes¹⁶. Women are more likely to experience repeat victimisation than men¹⁷.

The cost of domestic abuse

The cost of domestic abuse to public services in England and Wales is an estimated £3.856 billion per year¹⁸. Local government's annual contribution to this figure is about £479 million.

Honour-based violence and forced marriage

Although honour-based violence and forced marriage are considered under the definition of domestic abuse, they are distinct from other forms of abuse in that they are driven by a desire to maintain perceived cultural norms and traditions, and that failure to do so would

'dishonour' the family¹⁹. That being said, it is important to remember that honour-based violence and forced marriage are not exclusive to any religion, culture or society¹⁹.

Prevalence of forced marriage

The Forced Marriage Unit in the UK provided support or advice to approximately 1400 cases in relation to a possible forced marriage (i.e. those who were at risk of a forced marriage, currently in the process of being forced into marriage, or who were already in a forced marriage) in 2016²⁰.

The majority of cases involved female victims (80%); the remaining 20% were male. More than one-third (35%) of victims were 18-25 years old; slightly over one-quarter were aged under-18. In 2% of cases the victim identified as lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender which may be an underestimate as these data are not collected routinely. In 10% of cases the victim had a learning disability²⁰.

Prevalence of honour-based violence

In 2010 at least 2800 cases of honour-based violence (including beatings, acid attacks, mutilation and murder) were reported to the police in the UK²¹. Between 2010 and 2014 29 honour-based murders or attempted murders in the UK were reported in the media. These figures are likely to be underestimated as incidents of this nature are known to be underreported and may not consistently be categorised as honour-based violence by the police or other public bodies¹⁹. The majority of victims are female.

Regional and local picture

In 2016 Coventry was estimated to have a population of 352,900²². The average age was 33 and is decreasing, which has implications for the burden of domestic abuse in the city.

Prevalence of domestic abuse

Data from 2015/2016 showed a significantly higher rate of domestic abuse in Coventry compared with the rest of England, although similar to the West Midlands region²³. For this reason domestic abuse has been identified as a priority by the Coventry Community Safety Partnership Board.

* Non-crime incidents are those where there is no evidence of a criminal offence being committed but that may be a precursor to criminal behaviour (e.g. coercive control), and recording of the incident would be desirable for future follow-up.

Data from West Midlands Police show that there were 2763 domestic abuse crimes and 4287 non-crime* domestic abuse incidents between April 2016 and July 2017 in Coventry. Women were victims of domestic abuse crimes five times more often than men: 2189 crimes had female victims compared with 419 with a male victim. The average age of victims was 26 years old.

Prevalence of honour-based violence and forced marriage

Data from the West Midlands Police Strategic Intelligence Development Team show that there were 55 honour-based violence and forced marriage offences in Coventry in 2014 which represents 9% of all such offences across the West Midlands²⁴. In 2010 the West Midlands was ranked as the 2nd worst area behind London for honour based violence with 378 incidents reported to the police²¹.

85% of victims in the West Midlands are described as being of 'Asian origin' but due to poor data collection it is unclear exactly how this was defined^{24,25}.

Almost one-third of the incidents recorded by police in Coventry took place in the wards of St Michael's and Foleshill, both of which are areas of high deprivation²⁶. According to the 2011 Census Foleshill has the highest Asian/Asian British population in the city and St Michael's has a higher proportion of student residents compared with the rest of the city.

Financial impact of domestic abuse

The annual cost of domestic abuse in Coventry is estimated to be £34.8 million. This includes physical and mental health costs of £10.4m; social services costs of £1.7m; combined criminal justice and civil legal costs of £9.9m; housing and refuge costs of £1.2m; and £11.6m through lost economic output. Human and emotional costs are estimated at £60 million²⁸. These estimates have been made using the 2009 British Crime Survey for a population of 16-59 year olds, therefore the actual costs may be higher.

Vulnerable groups

Anyone can be affected by domestic abuse, however certain groups may be more likely to experience it, have increased vulnerability to its impact, and/or face additional challenges accessing services. The diagram sets out the vulnerable groups and the issues they may face.

Lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender	Potential barriers to access include ²⁹ : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fear of homophobia • Not identifying with the experience of domestic abuse • Believing that services are designed around heterosexual relationship models, and therefore don't cater to them • Concerns about being 'outed'
Mental health and/or substance abuse problems	Domestic abuse is associated with an increased risk of mental health problems, including depression and anxiety; a greater use of mental health services; and are more likely to self-harm or die by suicide ¹⁵ . Substance abuse (misuse of alcohol and/or drugs) often co-exists with mental health problems and is independently associated with domestic abuse ³⁰ .
Older people	Older people may be more at risk of neglect and financial abuse compared with psychological, physical and sexual abuse ³¹ . They may face the following barriers to accessing services ^{32,33} : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • dependence on others • failure to recognise the situation as abusive • a lack of awareness of services • previous lack of support from friends, family or services.

Coventry domestic abuse services

Service provision

Since 2014 domestic abuse services have been commissioned in Coventry to provide:

- A helpline
- A single point of access
- Community-based victim casework
- Victim aftercare support
- Security installations
- Supported accommodation;
- A domestic abuse perpetrator service
- Services for children and young people affected by domestic abuse.

The services include specialist provision for black, Asian, minority ethnic and refugee individuals; victims of honour-based violence and forced marriage; children; disabled people; and men. In addition to the commissioned provision a range of other organisations support victims and perpetrators of domestic abuse.

Consultation & Engagement

In the preparation of this strategy, Coventry City Council in collaboration with partners, conducted consultation as well as a needs analysis so that the strategy could be structured around the affected population and place emphasis on the right areas. Coventry wants to take a multi-agency approach to tackling this issue and use a common language and definitions across all stakeholders.

Professionals from a wide range of disciplines (including community safety, domestic abuse service providers, other voluntary and community sector organisations, West Midlands Police, general practice, Coventry and Warwickshire Partnership NHS Trust, and Coventry and Rugby Clinical Commissioning Group) came together to discuss the proposed priority areas, identified potential gaps and how these could be addressed in the strategy. Their thoughts and ideas have been incorporated into the strategy.

Service users, members of the public, and statutory and voluntary stakeholders were also invited to complete surveys to identify the priorities that were most important to them.

Targeted engagement took place with young people aged 15-18, through the Positive Youth Foundation by convening a focus group; and adults with care and support needs were surveyed through Grapevine. The engagement process focused on exploring what individuals in these groups understood about domestic abuse and their attitudes towards seeking help. Guidance from the Alzheimer's Society was also sought in relation to domestic abuse and dementia and they highlighted the complex problems that can arise for those responsible for their care with regards to domestic abuse.

Governance

The strategy has been developed by the Domestic Abuse Working Group which reports to the Coventry Community Safety Partnership Board. The working group comprises membership from West Midlands Police, community safety, public health and insight, commissioning (adults and children), Coventry and Rugby clinical commissioning group (safeguarding), children's social care and regulatory services.

The Coventry Community Safety Partnership Board hold overall responsibility for the strategy. The Working Group has links to the Operational Group which comprises local providers, the Coventry Health and Wellbeing Board, Coventry Safeguarding Adults Board and the Local Safeguarding Children's Board.

Implementation of the strategy is supported by an action plan, the development of which will be informed by the named groups and further stakeholder consultation.

The Domestic Abuse Working Group will transition into a Steering Group, and will monitor the implementation of the action plan and lead commissioning of future domestic abuse services in Coventry.

Strategic priorities

The priority areas for the strategy have been derived from data, consultation with stakeholders, including service users, and national and regional policies, strategies and guidance.

The strategy model is based on the four Ps Contest model: Prepare, Prevent, Protect and Pursue. Contest is the government's counter-terrorism strategy. It is a well-established systematic approach to capturing key areas of concern for issues that require a multi-agency response and can therefore be appropriately applied to domestic abuse. Using this approach ensures that whilst there are four distinct strands which each have their own goals, each strand interlinks and supports working towards a common goal.

Prepare

Why this is important

Governance and effective partnership working

Domestic abuse is a priority for the West Midlands Police, Public Health, Safeguarding and Community Safety. Close working between these agencies and other key partners is necessary for a cohesive and effective response to this issue.

Provide high quality and equitable services

Coventry City Council has committed to the West Midlands Domestic Violence and Abuse Standards which support the delivery of safe, effective and evidence-based care and support; and outline the expected minimum standards of care ¹⁵.

Service planning and commissioning must be supported by robust data collection to ensure that the needs of the local community are met. This should include the identification of victims from under-represented and vulnerable groups. In 2017 a service audit identified a gap in funding for language support and interpreters in accommodation services, as well as a need for an increase in black, Asian, minority ethnic and refugee specific accommodation in Coventry.

Effective utilisation of resources

Needs-led commissioning will help to avoid duplicating services and wasting money.

Outcomes

Statutory organisations and specialist services will provide safe and effective support that is responsive to the needs of victims and allows their story to be heard. Services will work closely in partnership to ensure that victims do not have to tell their story more than once. Services will be underpinned by robust, visible governance structures to ensure clear management, accountability and responsibility, including during periods of change and uncertainty.

Improved data collection by local and regional services in contact with victims and perpetrators to ensure that service provision is shaped by the needs of victims and is able to identify and respond to emerging trends. This should include identifying vulnerable and underrepresented groups to help address barriers to service access.

Services will support victims at all levels of risk. This should include those with complex needs to ensure that factors that may impact on the victim's vulnerability to and effect of domestic abuse are addressed.

How we will achieve the outcomes

Through robust commissioning, governance and provider accountability we will ensure the development of domestic abuse services adherent to the West Midlands Domestic Violence and Abuse Standards. The commissioning process will be informed by engagement with victims so that services reflect their needs. Commissioners and service providers will work together to develop tools to facilitate accurate data collection.

We will explore options for carrying out a service evaluation to inform future service development.

We will explore the development of referral pathways between service providers and key services, where they do not already exist, to support victims and perpetrators to access additional services.

As part of our commissioning strategy we will consider cross-boundary commissioning of specialist services where local need may not justify a local service.

DRAFT

Prevent

Why this is important

Break the cycle

Witnessing domestic abuse can have devastating long-term effects on children and young people, and increases the risk of creating an intergenerational cycle of abuse³⁴.

Families affected by domestic abuse may have other complex needs² including parental mental health problems, substance misuse, housing or debt problems, offending or anti-social behaviour, poor or inconsistent parenting⁴⁵. Addressing these may help to break the intergenerational cycle of abuse⁸.

Almost one-third of victims suffer repeat victimisation⁴⁶. This is likely to be an under-estimation.

Honour-based violence and forced marriage are driven by the belief that certain behaviours are 'dishonourable' as they are in opposition with perceived religious or cultural traditions¹⁹.

Early identification and intervention

Coercive and controlling behaviour are central to domestic abuse but are poorly understood and may be hard to identify, including by the victim and the perpetrator⁶.

Victims of domestic abuse may not present to specialist services. Their first point of contact may be the police or a health care professional, among others; and it may take several contacts before disclosure. Surveys of adults with care and support needs indicated that they would seek help from the police, friends, a carer or relatives before they would go to a specialist service.

Domestic abuse is underreported therefore prevention requires focus on identifying perpetrators, as well as victims, and supporting them to change their behaviour.

Early identification supports the development of long-term interventions to prevent domestic abuse including honour-based violence and forced marriage, and a shift away from a crisis management approach.

Coventry's Early Intervention Service supports the early identification of young people's unhealthy relationships which are often typified by coercive and violent behaviour. 47% of 178 service users in 2016/2017 were identified as being engaged in unhealthy relationship behaviours.

Certain vulnerable groups face barriers to accessing support. A lack of information about available services and understanding of domestic abuse may contribute to this. A focus group with young people indicated a lack of awareness of services; and surveys with adults with care and support needs found a need for more information about domestic abuse.

⁴⁵ Commissioning for Families with Complex Needs (n.d.). Children's Improvement Board.

⁴⁶ Intimate personal violence and partner abuse

Raise awareness

Domestic abuse, including honour-based violence and forced marriage, is everybody's business. Successful prevention requires awareness and understanding of domestic abuse at all levels of society.

Outcomes

Frontline staff will consider the needs of the whole family when addressing domestic abuse; and families will be supported by early intervention initiatives in Coventry such as the Early Intervention Service, the Family Nurse Partnership and Family Hubs, which can help to break the intergenerational cycle of abuse.

Frontline staff will be able to identify possible signs of victimisation, including evidence of controlling and coercive behaviour and seemingly isolated incidents as part of a pattern of abuse; and intervene early enough through signposting, referral and/or information-giving as appropriate to prevent repeat victimisation.

Frontline staff will be able to identify suspected perpetrators and know where to seek further information and advice to ensure that they receive appropriate support to change their behaviour and improve outcomes for victims.

Improved public understanding (including among vulnerable groups) of domestic abuse (including coercive and controlling behaviour, honour-based violence and forced marriage), who it affects, and the needs of vulnerable groups to enable individuals to recognise when they or others may be a victim.

Children and young people will have improved understanding of domestic abuse, including honour-based violence and forced marriage, recognising that they have no place in healthy intimate or family relationships.

Victims will have the confidence to report abuse early and seek help to prevent further incidents.

Parents will be able to recognise the signs that their child may be a victim or perpetrator of domestic abuse and know where to seek help to ensure that they receive the necessary support to prevent further abuse and/or achieve behaviour change.

Attitudes towards honour-based violence and forced marriage are changed to increase understanding that they have no cultural or religious justification, and encourage victims and potential victims to seek help.

How we will achieve the outcomes

We will develop a tiered core competency framework outlining the minimum knowledge and skills requirements for staff in contact with adults and children affected by domestic abuse, to support a holistic, needs-led approach that enables their complex needs to be addressed; and ensure the dissemination of information to local services about domestic abuse services in Coventry.

Coventry's Early Intervention Service will review school lesson plans, and ensure relationship education is included where necessary. We will engage with voluntary and community sector organisations that work with children and young people, schools, colleges and universities, to increase knowledge and understanding of domestic abuse including honour-based violence and forced marriage among children and young people; and explore the possibility of peer-led education delivered by individuals with lived experience of these crimes.

Coventry's Early Intervention Service will deliver education to parents and carers to support them to identify unhealthy relationships between young people. We will explore other methods of improving parental education on domestic abuse including honour-based violence and forced marriage to support them to recognise where their own children may be affected.

We will explore methods of engagement with faith and cultural leaders to challenge the beliefs that give rise to forced marriage and honour-based violence; and with voluntary, community and faith organisations that support vulnerable groups who face barriers to accessing services.

We will support the Coventry and Warwickshire Chamber of Commerce's initiative to improve employer awareness of and support for victims of domestic abuse.

We will develop a communications strategy to improve awareness and understanding of, and encourage conversations around domestic abuse including honour-based violence and forced marriage among all groups in society. The strategy will challenge misconceptions, increase understanding of abusive behaviour, including coercive and controlling behaviour, and highlight the needs of vulnerable groups.

Protect

Why it is important

Information-sharing

Appropriate information-sharing between agencies is required to ensure that victims receive the most appropriate intervention, and to protect them (and their children where relevant) from ongoing harm. However, it presents ethical and legislative challenges, resulting in a lack of clarity about how information should be shared⁴⁷.

The process should be as simple and clear as possible, ensuring that the victim's safety (and that of anyone else potentially at risk) forms the basis of any decisions.

Access to appropriate and safe accommodation

Domestic abuse is a common cause of homelessness. In 2016/2017 in Coventry violent breakdown of a relationship was one of the top three reasons for homelessness, accounting for 11% of cases.

In England the majority of referrals to refuge accommodation are from local authorities different to the one in which the service is based⁴⁸.

Transitioning from a refuge to long-term accommodation may create difficulties due to eligibility for and prioritisation of social housing (e.g. for out of area residents)⁴⁹. It must also be considered that some victims prefer to remain in their homes, and should be supported to do so safely if they choose to.

Accommodation needs vary between victims, and may be driven by factors including gender, culture, religion and sexual orientation.

Ensure that people know where to seek help

A lack of awareness of services may act as a barrier to seeking help for domestic abuse. A focus group with young people found that they were not aware of the services available and were reluctant to seek help from professionals, preferring to speak to those with experience of domestic abuse.

Safeguarding

The 2017 joint targeted area inspection for domestic abuse (carried out in six areas across the country) found that agencies did not always adequately address the needs of children and young people affected by domestic abuse; particularly services supporting their parents¹¹.

⁴⁸ Supplementary guidance on domestic abuse and homelessness (Dept for Communities and Local Government (2014) Department for Communities and Local Government

⁴⁹ Improving access to social housing for victims of domestic abuse – consultation (2017) Department for Communities and Local Government

For a significant proportion of adults who require safeguarding this is as a result of domestic abuse⁵⁰.

Exposure of children to domestic abuse is a safeguarding issue and professionals are duty-bound to refer to children's services. Failure to appropriately acknowledge the experience of children risks long-term negative impacts on their health and wellbeing¹¹.

Silo working of key agencies means that adult's and children's safeguarding needs are not always recognised in relation to domestic abuse¹¹.

Outcomes

Individuals within key agencies will be able to identify the circumstances in which it is appropriate to share data; and know who to seek advice from when in doubt to ensure that victim's needs are not overlooked.

Victims of domestic abuse will have 24 hour support to access emergency accommodation appropriate for their needs and circumstances, including for those not resident in Coventry. Provision of emergency accommodation for the identified vulnerable groups will be driven by need, based on local data.

Victims ready to transition from refuges to settled accommodation will be treated as high priority for social housing; and those who wish to remain in their own homes will be supported to do so.

Increased public awareness and knowledge, including among young people and adults with care and support needs, about the national and local domestic abuse services available and how to contact them.

Professionals supporting victims will ensure the implementation of the appropriate safeguarding procedures for adults and children; and ensure the child's story is heard.

How we will achieve the outcomes

We will develop a data sharing protocol and tool (or appropriately adapt existing ones) within and between relevant agencies to support decision-making on how and when data should be shared. Commissioned domestic abuse services will be required to have a named information governance lead who can advise on information-sharing.

Domestic abuse services, housing and other key agencies will work in partnership to ensure that victims of domestic abuse have access to appropriate housing. We will explore options to assess the demand for emergency accommodation so that service provision is informed by need.

We will ensure that domestic abuse services support the prevention and relief of homelessness and align with the Housing Options services put in place to meet the requirements of the Homelessness Reduction Act, including advice and support for people who are homeless or threatened with homelessness, alongside effective referral pathways.

A communications strategy will be developed to improve public awareness, including among young people, of local and national domestic abuse services and knowledge of how to seek help. This will include the identification of appropriate communication channels and settings (e.g. youth centres, workplaces, cultural centres) to ensure that vulnerable groups are reached.

Locally commissioned domestic abuse services will be required to maintain an up-to-date website and publicity material with contact details of local and national services which will be accessible to those who do not speak English as a first language or who may require easy-read materials.

We will explore the provision of peer-led support for young people who experience or witness domestic abuse including honour-based violence or forced marriage.

Development of clear safeguarding policies for adults and children by agencies supporting victims and perpetrators of domestic abuse; and a named contact within agencies to advise and support staff to ensure appropriate implementation.

Close partnership working between key agencies to ensure that children's needs are addressed in all cases.

Pursue

Why it is important

Ensure that perpetrators are held accountable and are supported to change their behaviour

In managing incidents of domestic abuse it is important for professionals to address the behaviour of the perpetrator, as well as the needs of the victim. Failure to do so risks overlooking the underlying causes of the abusive behaviour, and implementing short-term interventions in the absence of long-term strategies to prevent ongoing abuse¹¹.

Manage risk and ensure that victims are supported early to reduce risk

Victims should be supported at the earliest appropriate opportunity to reduce risk of ongoing abuse. This should focus on court and out of court opportunities to address offending behaviour and achieve long-term behaviour change.

Outcomes

Perpetrators will receive appropriate support to understand and change their behaviour, and address the complex needs that may contribute to their actions, with the aim of achieving positive outcomes for the victim including reductions in offending behaviour

Professionals in contact with perpetrators will have an understanding of and be able to recognise coercive and controlling behaviour.

Perpetrators will be managed robustly but sensitively to achieve justice for victims and ensure that they feel supported and able to continue reporting incidents.

How we will achieve the outcomes

We will work to better understand the needs of perpetrators and the pathways in place to support them; and consider actions alongside criminal justice (e.g. removals to prevent breach of the peace, domestic violence protection notices and orders, and civil orders) to manage them where this is appropriate.

We will develop effective referral pathways and information sharing agreements to support them, working effectively with the police and probation service to understand how the wider partnership can support criminal justice activity.

We will explore options for the evaluation of the effectiveness of services that are in contact with perpetrators, victims and families to determine the outcomes of services and inform commissioning.

Delivery

This strategy is supported by an action plan that will be implemented and monitored by the Domestic Abuse Steering Group to ensure that the strategy achieves its aims of protecting and empowering victims, and reducing domestic abuse in Coventry.

Prepare

- Ensure there is strong governance and accountability in place for the operation of the strategy and delivery of the action plan.
- Ensure there are robust procurement, commissioning and monitoring procedures in place for all City Council commissioned services connected with domestic abuse.
- Achieve consistent data collection & recording.
- Explore the evaluation of existing services.

Prevent

- Development of a clear competency framework which defines the knowledge and skills required for staff engaged in service delivery.
- Make information more accessible to professionals and the public.
- Ensure that safeguarding is a key part of the tendering process
- Take a holistic approach to abuse tackling root causes and how it affects the wider family and community
- Embed IRIS (Identification and Referral to Improve Safety) in GP practices.
- Engage with the business community to understand and address the impact of abuse on their workforce.
- Engage with faith leaders regarding forced marriage and honour based violence.
- Work with corporate communications to develop a plan around launching the strategy and getting consistent messages out.

Protect

- Review data sharing in light of the implementation of the General Data Protection Regulation in 2018.
- Ensure the provision of and access to safe accommodation which is needs-led.
- Emphasis on staff training and awareness of safeguarding issues in the context of domestic abuse in all city council commissioned services
- Strong and effective leadership processes around the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub and Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference
- Use of Independent Domestic Violence Advisors to support victims of abuse.

Pursue

- A clear understanding of the dynamic nature of risk and need to share critical information in a timely manner.
- Perpetrator programmes to help break the cycle of abuse and reduce re-offending.
- Holding abusers to account whether through the criminal justice system or community-based programmes.

- Exploration of evaluating interventions to determine whether they have been successful, taking the learning forward to inform future service commissioning.

DRAFT

Acknowledgments

Many thanks to all the members of the Domestic Abuse Working Group for their hard work in developing this strategy; and to the service users, members of the public, domestic abuse service providers, wider stakeholders and council colleagues who provided their knowledge and expertise to help inform its priorities. Thank you also to Voluntary Action Coventry, Positive Youth Foundation, Grapevine and the Alzheimer's Society for their support in carrying out the engagement work for this strategy.

Appendices

Draft high level action plan

Prepare:

- Oversight and accountability for delivery of the action plan by the Police & Crime Board.
- Assessment of robust and visible governance structures during the tender process when commissioning services.
- Procurement and monitoring processes to ensure compliance with the West Midlands Domestic Violence and Abuse Standards for all commissioned services.
- Develop an effective information sharing agreements and have clearly defined referral pathways for service providers.
- Develop a core competency framework that defines knowledge and skills requirements of staff engaged in service delivery. Exploration of suitable training options.
- Commissioners and providers work together to achieve consistent data collection by agreeing common data and reporting standards.
- Ensuring equitable service provision by ensuring the needs of vulnerable groups are accounted for in the service specification. Developing needs led services.
- Explore the evaluation of existing services to inform future commissioning decisions.
- Engage with colleagues regionally and explore cross boundary commissioning.

Prevent:

- Develop a core competency framework that defines knowledge and skills requirements of staff who may encounter adults and children at risk.
- Explore the possibility of developing online information (e.g. an App) easily accessible to professionals to raise awareness of the services available. Part of the commissioning process for services should include an obligation to make stakeholders aware of their offering.
Early identification & intervention of those at risk or who are experiencing abuse for example using IRIS in GP practices.
- Breaking the cycle of abuse within families by specifying that commissioned services take a “holistic approach.”
- Explore method of engagement with faith leaders around honour based violence. Support the Chamber of Commerce with their workplace initiative around domestic abuse.
- Work with colleagues in Corporate Communications to develop a launch of the strategy and associated promotion on social media (and other channels) to raise awareness particularly for those in identified vulnerable groups.

Protect:

- Review current information-sharing across agencies in light of the new General Data Protection Requirement. Commissioning process should include the need to identify a named information governance lead within a service.
- Provide access to safe accommodation by strengthening links between providers of refuge accommodation, frontline staff responding to reports of domestic abuse as well as the provision of emergency housing within the City Council. Accommodation provision should be needs led.
- Service commissioning process to include a requirement for services to publicise their availability, particularly amongst those vulnerable groups who may find it more difficult to access advice.
- Commissioning process to include a check that services have safeguarding procedures in place and that staff are trained to recognise safeguarding issues. Contract monitoring of commissioned services should include staff training records as well as effective operation of the safeguarding policies.
- Strong and effective leadership regarding the operation of the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) and Multi Agency Risk Assessment Conference (MARAC) processes to ensure safeguarding is effective throughout the city.
- Services commissioned to include the provision of Independent Domestic Violence Advisors (IDVA's) to victims of abuse.

Pursue:

- Enabling police to investigate (by clear referral pathways and information sharing) and gather evidence so that perpetrators are held accountable by using criminal justice routes where appropriate.
- Accessing the needs of the whole family when assessing risk and making sure that agencies are working together to manage risks and put the right support around the family.
- Supporting perpetrators to change their behaviour by the use of perpetrator programmes. Exploring options for the evaluation of these programmes and whether those that need programmes have access to it. Accessing whether current programmes are fit for purpose.

Introduction

Purpose

This domestic abuse (DA) needs analysis is intended to provide an evidence base to inform the development of a domestic abuse strategy for Coventry.

Scope

The DA needs analysis covers:

- service scoping (supply) –
 - what services do we currently commission?
 - what are they meant to provide (service specifications)?
- usage (met demand) –
 - who accesses Domestic abuse services?
 - ...for those experiencing/who experienced DA [‘victims’]; and
 - ...for those who access perpetrator services
 - ...by protected characteristics under the Equality Act (e.g. by age, by gender, by ethnicity, by disability, by sexual orientation)
- crime and non-crime data (unmet demand) –
 - what are the city’s overall trends in DA?
 - ...by protected characteristics under the Equality Act (e.g. by age, by gender, by ethnicity, by disability, by sexual orientation)
 - how many are repeat incidents?
 - how many involve children?

Service scoping

What services do we currently commission?

Coventry’s current DA services commenced on 29th September 2014. It replaced former contracts; and demonstrated the Council’s commitment to stop DA as set out in the Council Plan. The current contract is for a period of four years and includes a single point of access service which aims to provide a ‘one-stop’ contact point for victims of domestic violence.

The contract consists of elements, each providing a specific service:

- helpline/single point of access and victim community-based support;
- victim supported accommodation;
- children and young people’s service; and
- perpetrator service.

What are the services commissioned to provide?

The intention is that the services deliver an integrated multi-agency model, together, the Coventry Domestic Violence and Abuse Support Services (CDVASS):

1. Helpline, interactive website and victim community based services:

A single Coventry helpline to provide support and information for victims, perpetrators, children and young people and professionals, providing a single point of access to all victim services and can explain and support access to children's and perpetrator services; support to victims living in the community including emotional support, support at court, support with property security and signposting to other specialist services; a support service to victims from Black, Asian, Minority Ethnic and Refugee communities; and a peer support service for victims including support groups, workshops and opportunities to meet other people in similar situations.

2. Supported accommodation for victims and children:

Accommodation includes a mix of furnished self-contained and shared individual and family accommodation; women-only accommodation with separate units for male victims; accommodation adapted for physical and sensory impairments and for carers; provision for pets in self-contained units.

Support includes: comprehensive individual risk and need assessments; comprehensive safety and practical and emotional support planning; individual one to one case work and group support sessions; multilingual staff and culturally specific support including forced marriage, 'honour'-based violence and female genital mutilation; signposting to other relevant specialist services; and 24/7 emergency referrals.

3. Children and young people service:

Support for children and young people in Coventry up to the age of 18 who are affected by domestic violence and abuse in the home include: support to children who are most at risk of harm; one to one and group support; support to enable children and young people to talk about their experiences, increase their confidence and improve their safety; support and advocacy for children and young people who are involved with the legal system.

Note: children experiencing domestic violence or abuse at home, parents and carers and professionals should speak to the child's social worker or CAF (Common Assessment Framework) key worker to make a referral. Alternatively the CDVASS Helpline can advise on how to access the service.

4. Perpetrator service:

Delivery of the Brighter Futures Perpetrator Programme – a ten-week long programme that can be delivered on either an individual or group basis to male and female perpetrators aged 16 years and over.

The programme works by increasing self-efficiency; self-esteem; providing an insight into problem behaviours and their impact on others; emotion regulation skills; problem solving skills; and taking personal responsibility for problematic relationship behaviours.

Referrals can be made via the single point of access helpline; or alternatively, police, probation and social care will have direct referral routes.

Crime and non-crime data

Domestic abuse in Coventry

There were 5,771 incidents of domestic violence and abuse recorded in 2016/17. This is a reduction of 201 incidents (-3.4%) from 2015/16.

Data on domestic abuse trends by protected characteristics such as age, gender and ethnicity of perpetrators / victims have not currently been accessed / not available.

Domestic abuse involving children

In 2016/17, 53% of domestic violence and abuse cases involved children. That is an increase of 15.8% from 2015/16. Exposure to adverse childhood experiences like domestic violence impacts on future violence victimisation or perpetration, and lifelong health and opportunities.

Preventing domestic abuse

Domestic abuse is everybody's business – it is important to recognise that domestic abuse has an impact on the lives of the victims, the offenders, the children, and the community, and that often suffering is hidden from view.

This year saw a significant decrease in the number of repeat incidents of domestic violence – 291 in 2016/17 compared to 565 in 2015/16. 6.7% are repeat victims; with the repeat incident rate falling from 9.5% in 2015/16 to 6.7% in 2016/17.

While overall domestic abuse figures remained stable (falling by 3.4%) the decrease in the repeat incidents is thought to be a positive impact from improvements in the support provided by police and partner agencies; and management of repeat offenders – reducing repeat victimisation.

Addressing sexual violence

The Council have commissioned a sexual violence prevention programme. This is intended to raise awareness and educate young people about sexual violence, appropriate behaviour and consent. It is being delivered to children, young people, teachers and parents in schools and youth groups. Further work is underway to develop an intimate partner violence prevention programme alongside this.

Service usage

Helpline/single point of access and victim community-based support

In April 2015 to September 2016, the service dealt with 4,338 calls (including referrals from professionals, advice, helpline, etc.) – giving an average of 2,892 calls per year.

In April 2015 to December 2016 (seven quarters), the service accepted 872 referrals – giving an average of 498 per year. The vast majority (96.7%) of referrals are female.

Victim supported accommodation

The service provided support to 221 people over the seven quarters from April 2015 to December 2016, that is, an average of 126 per year. The vast majority of people (98.2%) are female. The most common age range of people supported is 18-34; making up 70.1% of those supported. Location data is available on 57% of people supported – with most referrals from the wards of Foleshill, Henley, Radford and Lower Stoke. However, we do not have location data for 43% of referrals.

Children and young people's service

Received an average of 111 new referrals every year, and support, on average, 273 children / young people. The majority were supported on a short-term basis of around 0-3 months or 3-6 months; and only a small proportion (9%) of service users were supported over six months. Of the 163 cases that closed, the majority (58%) is because work with the child / young person has been completed within the quarter for which there was data.

Perpetrator service

On average, 238 perpetrators began support each year – and an average of 182 perpetrators are on a programme every year, and 72 complete the programme. The vast majority (93.6%) of perpetrators accessing the service are males – mostly aged 25-34 (44%); or 35-44 (29%). The majority commit either verbal (31%) or physical abuse (29%) – note that some may commit more than one form of abuse. Of the 262 perpetrators accessing the service between April 2015 and September 2016, the most common postcode was CV6 (32%) followed by CV2 (21%) and CV3 (18%).

West Midlands Police data analysis

Data from West Midlands Police between April 2016 and July 2017 show that the most common types of domestic abuse crimes that took place in Coventry during that period were violent.

Higher numbers of domestic abuse crimes occurred in areas with higher levels of deprivation.

Domestic abuse crimes more commonly involved individuals of younger ages; the median age of a victim was 26 years old.

Governance and reporting structure

The Domestic Abuse strategy is owned and managed by with the Coventry Community Safety Partnership Board.

The working group that has led the development of the Domestic Abuse Strategy has now become the Coventry Domestic Abuse Steering Group. The steering group reports to the Coventry Community Safety Partnership Board on progress against the strategy. The board is jointly chaired by Community Safety (Craig Hickin) and Public Health (Liz Gaulton).

The membership of the steering group includes representatives from:

- Public Health
- Insight
- Community Safety
- West Midlands Police
- Coventry and Rugby Clinical Commissioning Group
- Social Care
- Regulatory Services
- Commissioning

The steering group will be responsible for the development, implementation and monitoring of an action plan to achieve the aims of the strategy, and lead the commissioning of future domestic abuse services. Progress will be shared with the Safeguarding Boards and the Health and Wellbeing Board.

Consultation and engagement

Co-design event

A co-design event, led by Voluntary Action Coventry, was held on 14/11/17 with a wide range of statutory and voluntary partners (including community safety, domestic violence and abuse providers, other voluntary and community sector providers, West Midlands Police, general practice, Coventry and Warwickshire Partnership NHS Trust, and Coventry and Rugby Clinical Commissioning Group) who discussed the four priority areas and provided details on where they felt there were gaps and how the strategy should address them. Some of the key issues raised include:

- Coercive control should be a central part of the strategy.
- A tiered core competency framework should be developed to ensure that frontline staff can identify and respond appropriately to domestic violence and abuse.
- Information sharing between agencies requires clear protocols.
- Acknowledgement of young people as both perpetrators and victims of domestic violence and abuse in the strategy.
- Whether a domestic violence and abuse strategy, and not a violence against women and girls strategy is the right approach.
- Acknowledgement of sexual violence as an aspect of domestic violence and abuse in the strategy.
- What does and doesn't work well with the current single point of access service model and whether it meets the needs of men.
- Consideration of the support available to individuals pursuing civil litigation which is currently means tested.
- That a full needs assessment should have been carried out before work on the strategy was started.

General Survey

Domestic abuse stakeholder survey

Domestic violence and abuse can be described as behaviour that involves one person having control over another. This behaviour may happen once or several times over months or even years. It happens between partners (i.e. boyfriends, girlfriends, husbands and wives) or family members who are aged 16 or older. People of any gender or sexuality can be affected. The abuse may be:

- Psychological (mental)
- Physical
- Sexual
- Financial
- Emotional
- Honour based violence
- Forced marriage

A total of 248 people responded to the survey, of which 47 are service users and 201 Stakeholder (service providers, commissioner, councillor etc.) Further details on who responded are below .

Service users

Of the 47 service users who responded to this survey, 27 reported that they experienced domestic violence and abuse. None of them committed domestic violence and abuse.

Sought help

Of the 18 who sought help and support, 16 stated where they have sought help:

Help sought	Responses
Support from West Midlands Police	7
Support from a Coventry domestic violence and abuse service	6
Support from your GP/practice nurse	6
Other (for example a friend, relative, carer)	5
Support from a domestic violence and abuse service outside Coventry.	3
Support from another health or social care provider (e.g. a sexual health clinic)	5
Support from school/college/university in Coventry	0

The three most common sources of help were West Midlands Police, a Coventry Domestic Violence and Abuse Service, and the GP/practice nurse.

5 respondents highlighted that they also sought help from and family and friends and from Women's Aid outside Coventry.

Other support points	Count
Friends and Family	4
Women's Aid (outside Coventry)	1

Coventry Haven was highlighted as a service that users frequently sought help from; Sahil project has been highlighted in the other services section.

Coventry Haven (support and accommodation for women and children)	6
Refuge (telephone helpline and website providing information and support)	3
Safe and Supported Partnership (accommodation, information and support)	2
Other (please name them) Sahil project	1

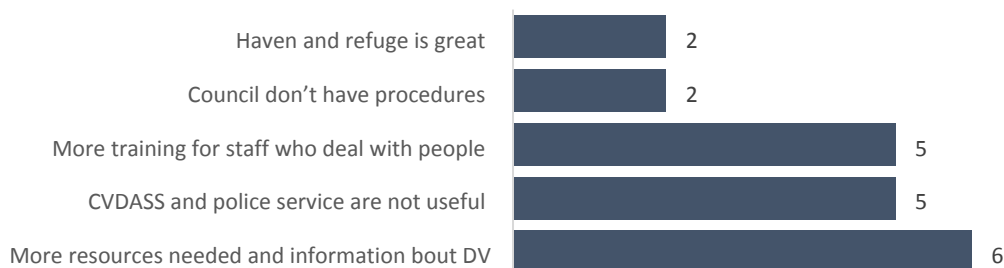

Have not sought help

For those who have not sought help (8 respondents out of 27 service users), the table below shows that the most prominent reason for not reporting or seeking help is the lack of awareness of domestic abuse and what it means. It is also worth highlighting that people are not afraid to seek help and are willing to seek help if they are aware of the issue and the help available to them.

Reasons for not seeking help	Count
Did not realise it was domestic abuse at the time	4
Embarrassment	2
I did not know where to seek help	1
Different times and level of awareness	1
I was too afraid to seek help	0
I did not want to seek help	0

From those who sought help and accessed the domestic abuse services they said that there is little or no information available to inform people about the services. Service users felt that the police and commissioned services could improve engagement with victims and would benefit from more knowledge. On the other hand those who made contact with Haven said that the service was very good. Refuge, which is part of the commissioned domestic abuse services, was also commented on positively.

What worked well and what could be improved in DV services

23 respondents identified their service priorities for the strategy. The table below shows that raising awareness about where and how to receive support was the most important priority area, but the rest of the priorities followed closely behind and as such there is no clear trend that can be identified.

Priority	count
It is important that people who experience domestic violence and abuse know where to find help.	21
It is important that services offer appropriate support to people at all levels of risk (low, medium and high).	20
It is important that services work in partnership to make sure that people who experience domestic violence and abuse don't have to tell their story more than once.	19
It is important that the short-term and long-term housing needs of people who experience domestic violence and abuse are addressed.	19
It is important to increase awareness of domestic violence and abuse among children and young people.	18
It is important that people with additional needs (e.g. a mental health condition, drug and alcohol problems) who experience domestic violence and abuse are offered appropriate support.	17
It is important that people who may find it hard to access services (e.g. disabled people; people who don't speak English; people who are lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender) are appropriately supported to do so.	17
It is important that people who carry out domestic violence and abuse are held responsible for their actions.	17
It is important that services work in partnership to make sure that people who experience or carry out domestic violence and abuse are referred or signposted appropriately.	16
It is important that staff working with the public (e.g. GPs, teachers) can spot the signs of domestic violence and abuse (including honour-based violence and forced marriage).	16
It is important that relevant services share data to protect people experiencing domestic violence and abuse (and their children where relevant).	16
It is important that children and young people who live in homes with domestic violence and abuse are protected from harm.	16
It is important that services consider the needs of the whole family to try to break the cycle of abuse that can continue between generations.	15
It is important that cultural attitudes and religious beliefs that give rise to honour-based violence and forced marriage are challenged.	15
It is important to increase awareness of domestic violence and abuse among staff in local services, community and faith groups, and members of the public.	15
It is important that services supporting people who experience and carry out domestic violence and abuse collect data (e.g. age, gender, ethnicity) to make sure that services meet the needs of the local population.	15
It is important that people who carry out domestic violence and abuse are supported to help change their behaviour.	15

People were invited to provide additional comments about what the strategy should consider. These included the importance of responding appropriately to complaints; recognising repeat offenders; understanding the underlying reasons behind domestic abuse; ensuring that children feel they will be believed; making an appropriate assessment of risk; providing support based on need and not finances (i.e. one service user felt that decisions around their support were influenced by finances).

Priorities

108 out of a possible 201 stakeholders ranked their top 10 priorities. There were 20 priorities listed and stakeholder had been asked to list their top 10 priorities in order of importance.

A weighting methodology was applied to the analysis of this question. There were 20 priorities and each was ranked from 1 to 20. A scoring was applied to each rank. For example 20 points were applied to each first rank vote and 19 points to each 2nd rank vote, 18 points to each 3rd rank vote, etc. Then the total points were summed and divided by 20 (the number of priorities) to get an average score. The result is presented in the table below.

Rank	Priorities	Avr. Score
1	Children and young people who live in homes with domestic violence and abuse are protected from harm.	73
2	Staff working with the public (e.g. GPs, teachers) can spot the signs of domestic violence and abuse (including honour-based violence and forced marriage).	64
3	Services consider the needs of the whole family to try to break the cycle of abuse that can continue between generations.	61
4	Services work in partnership to make sure that people who experience or carry out domestic violence and abuse are referred or signposted appropriately.	53
5	To increase awareness of domestic violence and abuse among children and young people.	53
6	People who experience domestic violence and abuse know where to find help.	52
7	People with additional needs (e.g. a mental health condition, drug and alcohol problems) who experience domestic violence and abuse are offered appropriate support.	52
8	Cultural attitudes and religious beliefs that give rise to honour-based violence and forced marriage are challenged.	49
9	Services work in partnership to make sure that people who experience domestic violence and abuse don't have to tell their story more than once.	45
10	People who carry out domestic violence and abuse are supported to help change their behaviour.	42

The table shows that the top three priorities from a stakeholder point of view are that children and young people who live in homes with domestic abuse are protected from harm; that staff working with the public can spot the signs of domestic abuse; and that services consider the needs of the whole family to try to break the cycle of abuse that can continue between generations.

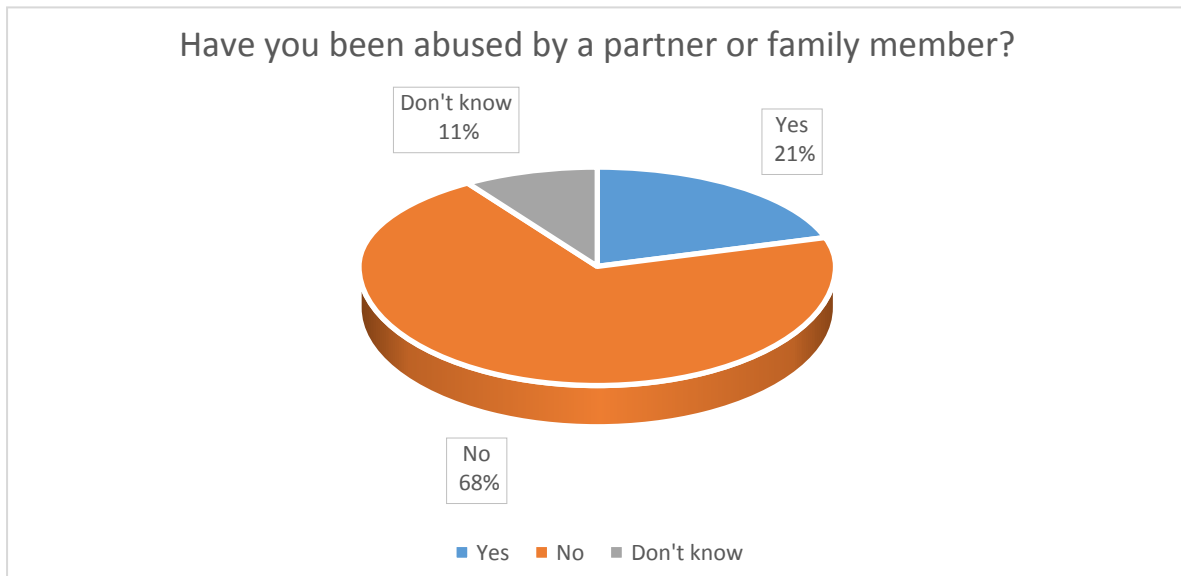

Survey Results from Grapevine

Who are Grapevine?

Grapevine operate throughout Coventry and Warwickshire and help people experiencing isolation, poverty and disadvantage to build better lives. They offer practical person-centred guidance, advocacy and support.

Consultation

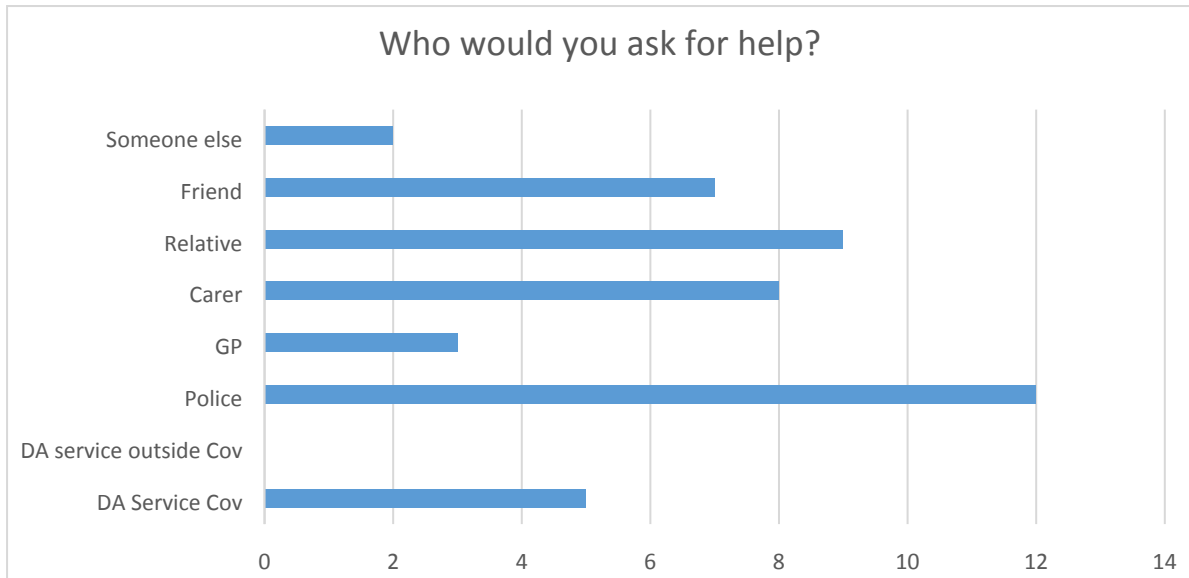

Grapevine surveyed 18 adults with care and support needs to explore their understanding of domestic abuse and their attitudes towards seeking help. The results were as follows:

It is interesting to note that 11% of respondents didn't know if they had been abused. This helps demonstrate some of the complexities of providing services to more vulnerable groups and identifying early warning signs.

The survey also explored some of the beliefs held by respondents. They were presented with a series of questions to which they were asked to respond true or false. The results indicate a strong belief that domestic abuse always involves violence. 50% of respondents thought that domestic abuse only happens to young women and/or children.

When asked where help could be sought from if you were experiencing domestic abuse the majority of respondents identified the police. Relatives, friends or a carer were other frequent responses.

When asked if they felt if there was enough information about domestic abuse almost two-thirds of those surveyed said no. This would seem to suggest that there is more work to do in promoting information to those with care and support needs. Research has suggested that as a group they are more vulnerable to abuse or all types.

Focus group with children and young people

Positive Youth Foundation, a non-profit organisation that supports children and young people, was approached to hold a focus group on domestic abuse. The group was facilitated through the regular Positive Young Thinkers group that the organisation runs to discuss different issues and took place on 6/12/17. The group comprised 5 females and 5 males, aged between 15 and 18. Two were black British African, one was Black British/Irish African and the remainder were British Asian. All attended school or sixth form in the postcode area of CV1; one person attended college in CV2. They were initially split into three groups (Group 1 – two females, one male; group 2 – two females, one male; and group 3 – one male, two females) to discuss the following:

- What domestic abuse is, who the victims of domestic abuse are and who carries it out.
- Where they have received information on domestic abuse from.

As a whole group they were asked about:

- Whether they feel they have received enough information on domestic abuse.
- Where they think their information on domestic abuse should come from and what other information they would like to receive.
- Whether they would seek help if they experienced domestic abuse or witnessed it in the family; and who they would seek help from.
- What would stop them from seeking help and what kind of help they would like to receive?

The key themes from the discussions are summarised below.

What things come to mind when you hear the term domestic abuse?

Participants recognised that domestic abuse can happen outside of the context of a partner relationship, and that children and young people can be affected. They understood that as well as physical abuse it could include verbal, sexual and mental abuse and forced marriage. The intergenerational nature of domestic abuse was also recognised.

They acknowledged that both men and women can be victims. Although it was recognised as being more common in women, participants felt that men were not taken seriously as victims and were not talked about as much.

The young people referred to culture, ethnicity, stress, anger, mental illness and alcohol as triggers for domestic abuse. Some felt that individuals from certain ethnic backgrounds or who held quite 'orthodox' views considered it acceptable to hit their children and therefore would not consider this behaviour abusive. Where domestic abuse was triggered by stress or alcohol, it was felt that this was accidental.

Domestic abuse was talked about as something that is not widely discussed, and that no-one every truly knows what happens in the home. It was raised by one person that victims of abuse may feel that they have done something wrong, and because they love their abuser they allow the abuse to take place.

Where do you get your information from about domestic abuse?

Participants got the majority of their information from TV (BBC iPlayer, Hollyoaks, the news, Jeremy Kyle) and social media (Instagram, Facebook, YouTube). Some expressed the view that the media manipulated how domestic abuse was presented and did not always show the whole story. They felt that it was biased towards women as no-one wanted to hear about female on male abuse.

One girl reported that her class had been shown 'Murdered by my Father', and cited it as a good resource for learning about domestic abuse. One girl also reported that her class was taught about domestic abuse, but that the class was only for girls; the boys were taught about terrorism instead.

Some of the young people said that they had learned about domestic abuse from witnessing incidents in their local area, and noted that people generally did not want to intervene.

Do you feel that you have received enough information? What other information would you like to receive?

The young people felt that there was not enough information about domestic abuse, honour-based forced marriage. None of them knew that there were services available to support victims.

Where do you think information about domestic abuse should come from?

It was generally felt that school was not the right place to be educated about domestic abuse. Reasons for this included: fear of developing a reputation and being bullied for being a 'weak person', the formality of the setting, and feeling uncomfortable talking to teachers.

There was a consensus that information should be delivered by young people (under 30) with lived experience, as they felt that they had more knowledge and credibility than professionals. It was also suggested that education should be delivered on an ongoing basis, and in the community (e.g. youth centres).

They felt that if information was to be delivered in school or by professionals it should be informal.

What are the barriers to asking for help (as a victim or witness of domestic abuse)?

The barriers that the young people reported to seeking help were not knowing where to go ask for help, and a fear of getting involved because of the potential repercussions.
